পরিণীতা

Parineeta is the bride: the moment a Bengali wedding begins to glow. The identity holds the warmth of haldi, the weight of zari, and the quiet ritual of a knot being tied.

Its tagline, এ যেন এক বিয়ের মরশুম ("it's a season of weddings"), gives the brand its promise: celebration is not one day, it is a season. Every design decision below serves that feeling: auspicious, rooted, regal, warm.

PERSONALITY

Auspicious · Warm · Regal · Rooted · Celebratory

VOICE

Speaks like a family elder who is delighted for you: warm, precise, never salesy.

Anatomy & meaning

1 ALPANA LOTUS RING

Rice-paste alpana drawn at every Bengali threshold: sixteen lotus arches welcome prosperity into the home.

2 HALDI SUN-DISC

The marigold-gold of the gaye holud ceremony. Warmth and auspicious beginnings; it is the brand's glow.

3 MUKUT CROWN

The bride's shola crown, drawn as five rising lotus petals. Royalty and celebration.

4 পরিণীতা WORDMARK

Set in Noto Serif Bengali with correct conjunct shaping. Carries the name in the client's own script.

5 GATCHHARA KNOT

The knotted cloth of bride (sindoor red) and groom (ivory): the union itself, and the brand's most ownable symbol, carried over from the original logo.

Monogram: the letter প with a heart-shaped paan leaf, the leaf held over the eyes at shubho drishti, the first auspicious glance of bride and groom.

FOR

Packaging, signage, seals, invitations, anything with room to show the ring.

Stacked · Horizontal · Wordmark

Letterheads, website header, bills, banners, ads: where the ring would be too detailed or space is wide or short.

Monogram · App icon · Favicon

Profile pictures, stickers, app tiles, browser tabs. The favicon drops the crown and leaf because they vanish under 48px.

Clear space & minimum size

CLEAR SPACE

Keep the area around the logo free of type, imagery and edges. Emblem & seal: one-eighth of the logo's width, x. Lockups: half the height of the letter প in the wordmark.

MINIMUM SIZE

Below these sizes the fine ornament and the tagline stop reading. Use the next logo down the family instead.

PROPORTION

Crimson leads, ivory gives it air, gold is the jewellery. Sindoor red is a spark, never a ground. CMYK figures are starting values for a press proof, not spot-colour matches: confirm on a printed swatch before a large run.

The full-colour and reverse logos are the only ones that use the sun-disc gradient. Every one-colour version is a true single-colour separation (the knot becomes outline against solid), so they work for foil stamping, embossing, engraving, newspaper ads and laser cutting. Over photographs, use the white one-colour logo on a darkened area, never the full-colour logo directly.

Alpana, lotus & the knot

ELEMENT	RULE
Alpana pattern	Gold on crimson for packaging and covers; crimson on ivory for print. Tone-on-tone crimson is a quiet texture behind logos: never place the logo over the high-contrast versions. Repeats seamlessly (tile supplied).
Gatchhara knot	A sign-off, not decoration: once per layout, centred, at the foot. Never enlarge it beyond the wordmark’s width.
Lotus divider	A hairline with a small lotus; separates tagline from body. Gold on dark, deep zari on ivory.
